

Overview of The Nazzaro Music Studio Program

So many elements for your musical growth

Lessons

Teachers That Motivate - State certified, classically trained, friendly teachers that motivate, teach many styles of music, and utilize technology seamlessly with learning.

In-Person/Hybrid Lessons and Virtual Lessons - The best of both worlds. Switch at any time for convenient virtual lessons for any reason, like sickness, bad weather, or just scheduling. Virtual and In-person lessons offer all the same great studio features.

Classical Training, with a Variety of Musical Styles - All students learn a variety of styles such as classical, jazz, rock, pop, Broadway, and current piano styles. Then we take it one step further as students compose their own pieces and original songs, and get recordings of all pieces they perform.

Musical Development - Students learn to sight-read, transpose, recognize chords and key signatures, improvise, and compose, giving them an understanding and appreciation of music which will enhance a lifelong enjoyment.

Deep Learning Articles - Learn the best practice techniques and how they help you learn piano and about yourself.

Lessons For All Ages - Special programs for the young beginners, to our middle school and high schoolers, and our adult students.

Performance Opportunities

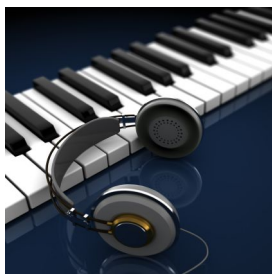

Performing Opportunities - Informal, low pressure performance opportunities for students of all ages.

Spring Recitals - Traditional recitals in a personal setting. Students showcase their talents and hard work they have done throughout the year for their families. Students perform all styles of music including original compositions. This is a memorable event for parents and students (and teachers!).

Piano Parties - For grades K-7, for many, this is a student's first performance in front of people, and we keep it inviting, low key, and fun. Students play piano for each other, have snacks and play games, and meet other young musicians.

Coffeehouses - For grades 8-12, a great time for a Friday night, students socialize, sing and play piano, improvise, have pizza and inspire each other.

Repertoire Parties - Our adult students come to hear new pieces, show a work in progress, and get helpful feedback. We discuss practice and performance techniques and have wine and cheese and other refreshments, and meet other like-minded students and hear a wide range of music.

Recordings & Compositions

Professional Recording Features - Digital Audio and MIDI recordings for every student. The studio uses digital pianos, computers, and MP3 and MIDI technology to enhance each student's understanding, creativity, and skills. Students have the opportunity to swing one moment from acoustic pianos to digital piano with studio quality sounds and digital effects the next. We encourage you to visit the this advanced musical setup.

Individual music streaming webpage for every student - Anyone, anywhere can listen to and download each student's own music files they have created at the studio. Share your music with your family and friends by streaming to any phone, computer or tablet.

Online Recital Recordings - Students showcase their talents and hard work they have done throughout the year for their families, captured live at our recitals. Listen back to 2008 and hear how you've improved.

Youtube: Beautiful HD video recordings of the recitals so friends and family can hear too. Listen back since 2012.

Annual Composition Showcase - Students write their own music and have it published on our website with professional PDF scores and MP3s.

Songwriting - Students can write their own songs, learn lyric writing techniques, chord patterns, add drum tracks and more.

Community

Student Spotlight - Get inspired by other students at the studio for their musical advice, music they have played at the studio, music they like to listen to, and more.

30 Day Practice Challenge - Can you practice 30 days in a row? Almost half our students were able to do this at our studio last year.

Weekly Inspiration - Understand your music, understand yourself with our weekly inspirational quotes from our teachers.

Flickr: See recent photos of our parties and recitals, and go down memory lane to see the students grow up musically. Look back as far as 2012.

Youtube: Beautiful HD video recordings of the recitals so friends and family can hear too. Listen back since 2012.
